Carl Brister

Carl Brister is “One to watch” according to his recent feature on NBC’s All Access. His music has gained national attention with additional features on CBS, BET, and ABC TV networks with a distinctive sound that combines elements of R&B, Gospel, and Pop with heartfelt lyrics that inspire the soul.

Carl’s discography of multiple albums and singles along with his work to uplift the community has led to his 2021 Kindred Award nomination for Contemporary Male Artist of the Year.

Carl Brister

With his new self-penned single “Enough Is Enough, Carl Brister sings from deep within about his concern for the rise in police brutality, social injustice, and broadening racial divide throughout the country.

“Watching my youngest son chant the words “enough is enough” at a rally for justice we attended broke my heart because our children still have to fight this fight of racism and injustice in America. The chant became a cry from within which gave birth to this song.”

In 2016, Carl founded his annual Love + Unity Fest to use music to inspire unity in the community after several incidents of injustice and brutality arose around the nation. Now, with lyrics that speak a sentiment that many share, Carl’s newest release renders one of his most personal and powerful performances with a simple declaration, “Enough Is Enough”.
